

COUNSELORS - SUMMER PROGRAMMES

Do you like working with children? If you are responsible, imaginative, caring and full of energy, this might be the summer job you are looking for!

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

Pueblo Ingles is an English immersion course for Spanish students to practice English without having to travel abroad. Since July 2004 we have “taught” English to Spaniards and welcomed thousands of English-speaking teens from all over the world to our little villages, where the official language is no longer Spanish.

During the programme they are accompanied by Counselors who are in charge of managing groups of 8 to 12 children (Spaniards and volunteers who are English native speakers). The programme is directed by the Programme Director and the Master of Ceremonies, who will be in charge of making sure that the programme is following the structure it is supposed to, as well as organizing activities, and providing support to the Counselors.

The Summer programmes for Kids don't have English-speaking volunteers, so the counselors will be in charge of exposing the children to English language through games, sports, theatre and plenty of activities.
